

WE NOMINATE

James McNaughton Hester, a Princetonian for some 14 years and possibly the only "weekend commuter" among the nation's leading university presidents, who continues to make headlines for his achievements as chief executive of New York University, America's largest private university. It is the considered opinion of "The New York Times" and other competent observers of the educational scene that N.Y.U.'s remarkable and dramatic "march towards excellence has been led, and sometimes pushed," primarily by this weekend resident of Princeton, a tough-minded former Rhodes Scholar, a member of the Princeton University Class of 1945 and a successful business executive.

What N.Y.U. has accomplished since January 1, 1962, when Hester at age 37 was installed as the youngest president in the institution's 130-year history, is a rags-to-success saga in the Horatio Alger tradition. Full-time graduate students and dormitory space have more than doubled; both the amount of money spent on research and financial aid for students have almost doubled; the end of a $100-million capital campaign, spurred by a $25-million challenge grant from The Ford Foundation, is almost in sight; and the groundbreaking for a 12-story, $20-million library, one of Hester's keystone objectives, is about to be announced.

A decade ago Hester elected to leave the ranks of business and to "take a flyer" in education as Provost of Long Island University's then struggling and mystifying Brooklyn Center. Some four years later, shortly after Thanksgiving, 1961, Hester was singled out for the high-paying N.Y.U. post. In these years, first as Provost and, subsequently, as Provost and Vice-President, he worked wonders at L.I.U. and in September, 1960, moved on to the oversight of N.Y.U.'s outstanding Graduate School of Arts and Sciences. He had proved beyond doubt his administrative abilities, discovering that, unlike many American university presidents with scholarly aspirations, he found administration a "satisfying, full-time commitment."

His initial contacts with education as a way of life were linked with, and directly affected by, the military. After graduation from Princeton with highest honors, and World War II training in the Marine Corps, he wound up in Japan as the civilian member of a military government team charged with operating educational institutions in the Fukuoka district with a population of 3,000,000. In the early 1950's, as he was about to embark upon new duties as assistant to the late Frank Aydelotte, second director of the Institute for Advanced Study, he was tapped by the Marines for the Korean War.

Between wars, Hester, the grandson of Protestant missionaries in the Near East, the son of a career U.S. Navy Chaplain and a native of Chester, Pa., demonstrated his promise in the field of history. One of the first Rhodes Scholars of the United Nations Era, he spent three years at Oxford, earning two degrees and laying the groundwork for the doctorate he was to receive in 1955 with the completion of his dissertation, "America and the Weimar Republic." His background, immediately prior to his acceptance of the position offered by L.I.U., included service as assistant to the president of John L. Handy Associates, management consultants, and as an executive with the Princeton firm of Gallup & Robinson.

For being largely responsible for one of the amazing renaissances in the history of modern-day higher education; for insisting that it is essential for a university "not to be afraid of coming into contact with the forces of society;" for calling for some form of "public-private partnership" in sustaining and strengthening private colleges and universities; he is our nominee as

THE LEAGUE at WORK
For GOW and I love my university, you understand, but I have this M.A. in French and I want to get back into it again, and get the rust off my wheels...

Princeton is a great of such women and a great many of them are Princeton University faculty wives. Until this fall there has never been a central clearing house to bring together trained, semi-professional faculty wives who want to work and the French professor who needs a fluent research assistant or the special economics project that needs a trained economist for only two weeks.

The University League of Princeton decided to establish such a service so that trained faculty wives could find their match. The Professional Roster it's called, and it is an example of the new and fluid look of the University League. Princeton's organization for faculty wives.

Founded in the early '20s, the University League used to be thought of in terms of silver teas and watercrackers sandwiches. It was always more than that, however.

For years, the emergency medical expenses of frantic young faculty families have been met, in strictest confidence, from funds administered by the League. "Interest groups" have discussed books or foreign lands. Faculty wives have been sternly "volunteered" by senior members of the group to entertain, to visit, new junior wives. And so it went. And still goes.

But an organization with 700 members of many ages, generations and points of origin, must sense both the needs of AUTUMN COMES TO NASSAU STREET: Lightly washed in the morning rain, the piles of colorful squash, green-striped zucchini and many-colored inums and minis make a palate of autumn color at Friday's French Market, Nassau and Mercer Street. The Market offers its wares fresh-picked from Princeton gardens every Friday morning throughout the early fall, as a project of the Garden Club of Princeton.

Its members and the fidelity and performed with such brilliancy that she was invited to join a Princeton University project on the economic development of Virginia.

Head Start. It's too early yet to secure the Professional Roster and wave it as a grand success. But so far, it has had a fine start since it was conceived some months ago by Mrs. Mildred Goldberger and for late Mrs. Ruth Freeman Mrs. Ruby Sherr, chairman of the Roster, shows the letter she sent out with the questionnaire, to League members. "We're interested in women who want part-time freelance work at the semi-professional level," she explains. "Here on this questionnaire, we ask what a woman's academic background is and what her professional experience has been and how good she is at you know... French, very fluent," for example — and what her present interests are.

"At the same time, we send a letter to heads of departments and projects at the University, describing what we were doing, and giving a sample of the kinds of talents we could offer."

Kinds of talents? One woman said she was skilled in "mouse surgery." Others list of skill and experience in psychotherapy, coding, computing, programming, translating into X-number of languages, work in various kinds of science labs.

Response? The ecology department needs a research assistant. Another department needs a librarian, part-time.

A professor needs a researcher to help him write a book.

Me. Too. "And we've had inquiries from people we didn't even write to," Mrs. Sherr says. "The pharmacology department needs a research assistant, and do you know? We have three women on our roster who are graduate pharmacists! Besides that, we had a request from Dow Jones for someone to do freelance editorial work, and we filled that in one 15 minutes."

A roster pioneer has an M.A. in economics from Yale. She served as a reporter-editor last spring for a Rutgers conference on social insurance.

THIS IS PRINCETON
 Once on campus, a family from far away meets the League host family and learns about life in a strange town and country. This is especially important for wives, many of whom are less fluent in English than their husbands, and whose culture is less accustomed to strange customs.
 "We find that so many League members who have traveled abroad were treated well in other countries and want to repay that hospitality to people who come here," says Mrs. Coale.

...and Resides. Perhaps, to the Princeton community, the University League is best known for its nursery school, started about 20 years ago to help young faculty wives, and the more recent baby-sitting service ($1.25 per hour for parents, either University-affiliated or not, who want to attend football games unattended by young children).

Mrs. Coale and her predecessor, Mrs. J. Merrill Knapp, see the League as a kind of "umbrella," with a lot going on underneath.

There are the Junior Faculty Wives, for example, and Mrs. George Thomas' sewing group that has provided fruitful companionship for lonely wives and the spirited coffee-hour talks about Princeton past-and-present by Mrs. J. Douglas Brown and the travel group meetings where faculty wives may listen to a talk by a Peace Corps couple or learn about demographic problems in India.

"The League wouldn't have had this slant years ago," Mrs. Coale and Mrs. Sherr point out.
 All this activity funnels in to League headquarters at 171 Broadwood, where Princeton University School used to be. Here, from 9:30 to 12:30, a secretary provides information and files the paperwork and keeps faculty living rooms from becoming League offices.

But, of course, not all is demography and computer programming. There is the Christmas dance and the League is now so large that there will be two bands at the dance. And next Tuesday, Mrs. Robert Golchen, who is an interested and vital member of the League and, in fact, its chairman, will be hostess at "Frosty" when League members come for tea after the fall meeting at the Woodrow Wilson School.
 "...assistance and amusement," reads Mrs. Coale's welcoming letter to the 700 members, "a widening variety of services..."

sometime after noon Thursday may well be the longest George and Lillie Taylor, 11 Quarry Street, have ever experienced. The Taylors hold one of 75 tickets guaranteed to win them a minimum of $4,000 from the New York State Lottery and possibly as much as $100,000.

The suspense began Monday when one of the two tickets Mrs. Taylor's sister had purchased for them was picked along with 1,300 others in a preliminary drawing. This assured them of at least $140, but they still had to survive another round to be in line for one of the 75 grand prizes.

Their luck held and on Tuesday they made the second cut-off. The final drawing will be held Thursday at noon on the steps of the New York Public Library. Mr. Taylor, who operates a taxi service in Princeton, would be not going to New York for the final drawing, but his wife will be there, taking a day off from the beauty salon she runs at 11 Quarry Street.

While they might not walk off with the $100,000 jackpot prize, the Taylors can dream of $50,000 and other nice round figures. Until Thursday afternoon, at least.

WOMEN ATTACK FIRM
 For Marketing "Explicit" Bull, Creative Playthings Inc., Edinburg Road, Cranbury, is currently weathering a small storm of protest from women around the country who believe that the firm's anatomically complete "Little Brother" doll is "porno graphic" and "unAmerican."

The doll, which is selling at 40 stores either owned or franchised by Creative Playthings, so shocked two women from Norwood, Ohio that they organized a campaign against it, insisting that the doll will "demoralize the children of our country."

Some 260 women from various states have joined the battle to stop sales of the $19.95 doll, which includes the representation of the sex organs of a four-month old baby boy. It has been manufactured and distributed in France for more than a year.

Bernard Barenthol, 444 Rosedale Road, executive president of Creative Playthings, defended the doll saying, "We think it will be an important contribution to the entire doll and contribute towards the development of beautiful attitudes. This should have been done long before."

"My guess is that most people will receive this idea favorably. There is nothing distasteful about the doll or the way it is being merchandised. If your mind is warped in that direction, you can set up any contention you like."

Mrs. Bette Benedict, public relations director for the firm, said it is aiming sales principally at schools and psychologists. She feels the doll will be an aid to the sex education programs now carried by many schools.

It is doubtful that any of the people who have written letters of protest have seen the doll. "Most of them have either read news stories or received a two-page letter from the Norwood women," she said. "And that is full of mis-information."

BOW NOW, NASSAU!

Campaign Being Princeton's mayoralty candidates walked the sidewalks of the Borough this week, but not together.

On Friday, Mayor Henry S. Patterson planted a tree on Witherspoon street, a tree donated monomously after Republican candidates gave to the Shade Tree Commission the money they might otherwise have spent on campaign posters which would probably be tied to trees a

Two additional trees have been offered by residents of Princeton since the Republican announcement, according to Mayor Patterson.

The mayor commented on the Borough's tree-planting problem, citing the number of diseased trees removed in Princeton this year, and the number of trees on Nassau Street marked by the state highway department with white "X" marks, indicating that they are diseased and must eventually be removed.

The same Friday, Democratic candidates Archibald L. Alexander Jr., interviewed merchants on the parking problem along Nassau, Witherspoon and Quarry Streets. He heard so much from others about the need for more parking space that his attitude now is, "I'll believe it when I see it," said one merchant to the candidate.

—Jitney? A parking lot on the periphery of town with bus or jitney service was the suggestion of Sidney Scholchitzky of the Music Center on Palmer Square. He told Mr. Alexander he believed that the new parking space would be greater than the capacity of mid-level garage by the time such garages were built.

Commenting on the jitney suggestion, Borough Planning Board Chairman Arthur E. Morgan said that in June of last year, following public hearings on the Master Plan, Mayor Patterson approached several people who had expressed an interest in a jitney service and asked them to form an exploratory committee. No particular interest was expressed, Mr. Morgan said, and the idea of a committee was tabled.

Surveys done by the Chamber of Commerce seemed to show that a jitney service at long Nassau and including the Shopping Center, would probably have to be subsidized with about $500 a week Mayor Patterson said this week.

Mr. Alexander told Mr. Scholchitzky that the economics of a jitney would have to be explored carefully.

Jitneys are not part of the current "economic feasibility" study under way by Larry Smith, Inc., for the Borough Planning Board, Mr. Morgan explained.

Staff members of the Larry Smith organization were in Princeton this week following an orientation meeting held a week ago with Mayor Patterson, Mr. Morgan and Engle Thomas Cawley. At the briefing session, they were given names of key Princeton people to interview in regard to such questions as a multi-level parking garages, parking meters both present and future and the core of town, generally. Their deadline is December 1.

Merchants along Mr. Alexander's line of march had some positive ideas about parking. One Nassau Street storeowner protested that 30 minute meters were too short because they didn't give his customers enough time. On the other hand, Mrs. Lillie Taylor, a Quarry Street beauty shop owner, objected that parking time in front of her shop was too long because people who worked uptown parked there all day and her customers had no place to park.

East of St. Paul's Church, merchants protested the late afternoon parking prohibition on the south side of Nassau.

OPEN SPACE CLOSING?

Funds in Doubt. The federal money stream that has helped to buy so much Open Space and for Princeton may be drying up.

Township Committee learned to its dismay on Monday night that the community may be stuck for about $175,000 for the purchase of recent Open Space lands.

Administrator Joseph R. Nini told Committee that the Federal Model Cities program, various urban renewal and anti-poverty projects in big cities and expenditures for the war in Vietnam have left Princeton Township far down on the priority list.

"Federal authorities want to know the money where they think it will do the most good," Mr. Nini said.

The immediate parcel involved is the 22.2 Pennypacker acres in the northwest part of the Township next to the 80 Woodfield Park acres (Poe Tract). About two years ago, Mr. Nini reminded Committee, Federal officials gave preliminary approval to the Pennypacker purchase. Final approval would mean that the Federal government pays half the land-acquisition costs and the state government the other half under Green Acres, thereby giving Princeton a free ride. This financing plan has been used to acquire much of the Township's present Open Space lands.

Since that preliminary approval, however, the Model Cities program has come into being and a new screening process for open space has been set up. Officials in the Federal Housing and Home Administration office in Philadelphia—that's the open space agency, in spite of its closed sign—have told Mr. Nini that the Pennypacker application does not "rank high enough" to receive Federal funds now. The application will be reviewed again, Mr. Nini was told and if it doesn't pass the second time, it's out permanently.

Channels. Applications for Federal open space money must now be approved, Mr. Nini said, by the Tri-State Transportation Commission in New York (Federal officials want to be sure a major highway isn't planned for the land in question) and by the Delaware Valley Regional Planning Commission in Philadelphia.

Committee was particularly alarmed because it had just introduced an ordinance adding seven acres of land in Herrontown Road, belonging to Dr. Philip Erlich, to the Open Space map. The unit cost is $32,000.

This package also has had preliminary Federal approval for the $16,000 Federal share and the other half has already been allocated by the state.

Mr. Nini said. The Township has paid for and has title to other Herrontown area property from Development and Dr. Louis

A REPUBLICAN GOES WALKING: Mayor Henry S. Patterson and Republican candidates Fred Peterson (Council) and Christine St. John (Tax Collector) talk politics with a small Borough resident whose first vote is many years in the future. The young man's barber is James Mack.

Hein; to the Van Dyke Wright budget; it can come from property and the Pennypacker acreage. If final Federal approval is withheld from these lands, the Township would have to pay the $175,000 it has been expecting as the Federal share.

The Erlich purchase is still in limbo. Public hearing on the ordinance to acquire that land, will be held November 6.

"We don't want to be too negative about all this," observed Commissioner William L. Wilson, adding that the purchase money doesn't have to come out of any annual ply under the state's new $50 road policy for $15,000 to widen Alexander Road from the old property line to Easty Road. After examining the application blank, however, Committee decided to explore the whole matter further at an extra meeting before the state's November 1 deadline.

It's one thing to have the state reject an application, but it's another to have the state regard the application as a binding agreement to go ahead if Committee has second thoughts about putting that $15,000 in next year's budget.

Alexander Road was not on the state's original list of Township roadways that would come under the new $50-a-foot proposal; however, the Township asked to have Alexander included, believing that the street will be a major arterial road in the future, and Engineer Frank Quinby has been told that the state will add it to the list.

Committee is curious about whether this state road money represents sales tax money coming back to the municipality.

"If we have to pay out $15,000 to get $2,500 back, it's a 50-50 policy, this isn't exactly relieving the tax burden on the home owner," Committee member Van observed.

In other activity on Monday night, Committee:

- Asked all interested residents to appear on November 6 for a public discussion of a request to run airport limousine service from Princeton.
- Agreed to reject the two bids for widening The Great Road as too high, and to advertise for new bids, hoping for more competitive bidding.
- Passed the ordinance prohibiting parking on Alexander

Street's west side from the Township Borough line south to the end of the Princeton Inn property to increase visibility.

- Accepted the low bid of Trani & Sons ($7,250) to curb and sidewalk the west of Walnut Lane.

TO JOIN PEACE RALLY
In Washington, Three bus loads of Princetonians will head Palmer Square at 6 a.m. Saturday to join the Pentagon peace demonstration scheduled by the National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam.

Plans call for a march from the Lincoln Memorial to the Pentagon where the rally will be held. Mrs. Peleene Hite of the Princeton Group to End the War in Vietnam said the latest word we have from the New York headquarters is that they have met with government officials and they hope to have the permit today.

The Princeton Group is "sort of an umbrella for all the peace groups here in Princeton," Mrs. Hite said. Headed by Roger Maren, it includes members of Negotiation Now, the Princeton Family Council to End the War in Vietnam, the Society of Friends, the Paul Jacobs Committee, Fellowship of Reconciliation, Mercer County Political Action Committee, and the Princeton University students' Ad Hoc Committee to End the War in Vietnam.

Plans call for a non-violent civil disobedience action in the Pentagon Building after the rally. Only those who travel to Washington by car pool will be able to take part in the civil disobedience, Mrs. Hite added, because the Princeton buses will leave Washington at 5 p.m.

Bus reservations ($6) made through Janet Townsend (931-8472). Further information concerning the confon-

Where were you, October run, When we all wanted Summer fun?

If the forecast for the next few days holds good, we may have at least one more pleasant Indian Summer weekend. Wednesday's rain is scheduled to be followed by partial clearing Thursday, Friday, Saturday and possibly Sunday are then expected to be clear and increasingly mild.

SCHOOL USE ATTACKED
In Montgomery. The use of Montgomery Township public school facilities for after school Catholic religious classes was again attacked by two Montgomery residents at a school board meeting Tuesday night.

Joseph A. Balaker, Cherry Valley Road, and Dr. Frank W. Johnson, Cherry Hill Road, charged that the use of school purpose room in the Burd Road School was a violation of the Constitutional separation of church and state.

Both men had voiced similar charges at the October 2 meeting and the board had agreed to consider their complaints. The use of the room was granted in September by the board to St. Paul's Catholic Church in Princeton, which is sponsoring a religious education program for 176 children.

P. C. Keith, spokesman for the lay sponsors of the class, said the contract with the school board included a rental fee. Both the Montgomery Methodist Church and the Montgomery Evangelical Free Church rent the school's facilities for Sunday services. Mr. Johnson and Mr. Balaker requested that the board's attorney attend the November 6 meeting at which a final ruling is expected, because they felt the previous decision might be illegal.

CONSUMERS TO BE AIDED
By New Service. Starting this week Princeton area residents will be able to take advantage of a new consumer service designed to aid them in dealing with business firms located within a 25-mile radius of Princeton.

Consumer Bureau of Princeton, Inc. will offer two services, both free of charge. Prospective buyers will be given the names of those firms recommended by other Princetonians as "helpful before you buy" and "dependable after you buy." The bureau will also give assistance in straightening out complaints a customer may have against a company.

The number to call is 924-0338, Monday, Wednesday or Friday between 11:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. By checking its register, the bureau will be able to recommend anything from appliance dealers, storm window contractors, television repairmen or dog kennels.

"We've carved more than 2,000 Princeton residents by telephone since January of this year," said Mrs. Donald Wall, president and board member. "By consulting this phone canvass and acting as a clearing house for consumer requests, we expect to gather enough information to enable us to maintain an up-to-date register of business people who serve the Princeton community helpfully and dependably."

Mrs. Wall emphasized that when the bureau received complaints against businesses, it would give the firms involved every opportunity to explain its position. "We certainly do not feel that all customers are always right about everything," she said.

Arrangements have been made to publicize the services offered by the bureau and to conduct voluntary group advertising programs with the net proceeds used to defray the bureau's small operating costs. No firm will be required to participate in any advertising program as a condition for being listed in the bureau's register.

Other directors of the bureau are George H. Fremont, Mrs. Gilbert K. Good, Mrs. Lawrence Stone, Mrs. William T. Sulphin and Harry G. Tobey.

MEET MR. BROWN

Charles Planie, "Work" Township voters are invited to a series of coffee next week to hear Montague Brown, Democratic candidate for Township Committee's two-year term.

A charge of "hedging" on low and middle-income housing was leveled this week by Mr. Brown against the present Township Committee.

"I can't understand how Committee could say no need for such housing has been proven," the candidate said. He cited studies made by the League of Women Voters, P.A. and the Citizens Advisory Committee to the Township on Planning Board.

"Near election time, we hear in talk from Committee that may be something will be done. My guess is it will end there," he said, "meaning the people here in Princeton can't do without its Oldsmobile agency's services, retired and young teachers, and young families on the way up, have to find homes elsewhere and the community suffers."

Officers for Mr. Brown, all at 10 a.m., will be held next Monday at 10 a.m. at the home of Mrs. W. B. Schrader, 263 Western Way, next Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Irwin Hirsch, 221 Shady Brook Lane, next Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Thomas Slix and next Friday at the home of Mrs. Marvin Blumenhal.

A fund raising cocktail party will be held this Sunday from 1:30 to 6:30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Carnevali, P.H. Stanley Donald Fox, 140 Hunt Drive.

ALONSO FREE ON BAIL

After arrest on a charge of possession of narcotics and unlawful possession of prescription drugs is presently free on $3000 bail.

He was released from Borough Jail when friends were able to raise the necessary bail. Alonso is awaiting a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr. No date has been set for the hearing but police say it should come before the end of the month.

A senior reportedly attended a Philadelphia college. Alonso was arrested last Wednesday evening at 8:30 as he was leaving the Palmer Square area near John Street.

Making the arrest were Lt. Francis Maguire and Detective Ralph Procaccino of the Borough Police and Detective Joseph Flynn of the State Police Narcotics Division. Det. Flynn was the complainant.

Chief Peter J. McCrohan said that Alonso was then brought to police headquarters and searched. There, police allegedly discovered in Alonso's possession material which they believed to be narcotics. It was sent to the State Police Labs to be analyzed. There has been no report yet of the lab's findings. It usually takes about 10 days.

about two weeks," said Chief McCrehan.

Chief McCrehan said the arrest was the result of an investigation conducted through the combined efforts of the Borough and State Police. At the time of the arrest, police carried search warrants signed by Magistrate Tams for Alamo and his car.

FIVE ARE FINED

In Borough Court, five Princeton drivers were fined Monday night. In Borough Court by Township Magistrate Glen B. Miller Jr., sitting in for Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tups Jr.,

Leon Green, 35, 33 Clay Street, was fined on three separate charges, two of which were suspended. Magistrate Miller fined Mr. Green $30 for switching license plates. He suspended a $10 fine for an unregistered vehicle and a $30 fine for no driver's license — the latter on the condition that Mr. Green obtain a learner's permit and show it to the police within 10 days.

Three were fined for speeding. Mr. Thomas P. Eberhart, 28, 16 Hunter Road, was fined $10. Mr. Evelyn Ellerbe, 46, 12 Lytle Street, each paid $17. Robert Fomonte, 33, 49 Shady Brook Lane, paid $16.

Mrs. Mary A. Meehan, 38, 160 Fisher Place, was fined $12 for failing to yield before entering a highway from a private drive. She pleaded not guilty.

SERIES TO CONTINUE

On Abortion. The Public Affairs Committee of the Princeton YWCA has scheduled a lecture on the sociological aspects of abortion for Wednesday, October 25. The lecture, one in a series of YWCA-sponsored public discussions on current topics, will begin at 8 p.m. in the Andrews Church.

Dr. Charles Westoff, chairman of Princeton University's department of sociology, and Dr. G. Leuzell Timmons, former Baltimore gynecologist convicted of abortion, will be guest speakers. Dr. Harrison Harbison will moderate the lecture and the question period after the lecture.

Dr. Westoff's work at the University includes serving as associate director of the Office of Population Research, which investigates the social and psychological factors affecting fertility. He was co-director of the 1965 National Fertility Study and is senior author of "Family Growth in Metropolitan America."

Dr. Timmons studied medicine in Paris and Vienna after graduating from the University of Maryland Medical School. He became concerned with the problem of unwanted pregnancy cases while medical supervisor of Maryland high schools.

MERCEDES-BENZ introduces The Invisible Model Changeover

We've posted half of this year's Mercedes-Benz 250S next to half of next year's 250S. The Changeover is invisible.

The New '68 MERCEDES-BENZ Models Are Here—And The '67 Models Aren't Out Of Date. . . Because You Can Hardly Tell The Two Apart.

If you own a current or recent Mercedes-Benz, the invisible model changeover means you'll be spared watching your car drop several hundred dollars in value overnight. And you won't feel as if you're suddenly stuck with last year's fashion. CHANGE FOR MORE THAN CHANGE'S SAKE. Instead of lumping all its changes into one big price tag, Mercedes-Benz simply adds them to the regular model year whenever the engineering staff declares them ready. The '68 Mercedes-Benz models differ from the '67's only in a handful of technical modifications made simply to meet the letter of Federal regulations that apply to all new domestic and foreign-built cars sold in the U.S. THAT'S ALL. No styling changes so you think the cars are all new.

GOING ABROAD

Orders for November production of all Mercedes-Benz now being accepted. Please place your orders early! We will handle all details for you.

There are 13 Mercedes-Benz models, ranging from $25,582 to $41,799 and from limousines to sports to economy cars. Visit Autobahn Motors soon for a test drive of the world's finest motor car... and a firsthand look at the invisible model changeover. Our selection is second-to-none in the New Jersey-New York-Pennsylvania area.

Hippies and Young Adults.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I would like to comment on Mr. Ben Herrman's answer to last week's "Question of the Week." Mr. Herrman says, "People at 18 today aren't mature enough — the so-called hippie generation." I believe that Mr. Herrman is referring only to a small minority of the 18 to 21 group; but I agree.

He must realize that most 18 year olds are mature young adults, not hippies. And some think else for Mr. Herrman to think about. Are all the adults over 21 mature and intelligent enough to vote?

Mr. Herrman also says, "If they don't want to get their hair cut, why should they be able to vote? Can a person's character be judged by the length of his hair? Is long hair a sign of immaturity? Mr. Herrman, does your statement suggest a long-haired man like the late Dr. Albert Einstein?" Mr. Herrman's answer is "no."

Suggestions on Sex.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Your report of the organization in Princeton of the Area Council for Sex Education quotes "a spokesman" for the group as having declared, "We are not going to hold a sex rally in Palmer Square." May one say how heartening such a course is these days when chaos and violence characterize the civic and social groups seeking reform. I feel that the spokesman's statement implies the traditional — "tried and true" — procedure: committees, subcommittees, bulletins, "brain storming sessions," nominations, elections, reports, and of course implementation and finalization.

This is one of the nice things about traditional methods: one knows what is expected. So I can confidently offer my thought about the matter: I am sure that the committee will welcome all suggestions from interested parties.

My suggestion is that rather than allow specialization to evolve in the natural course of things, the committee build into the program from the beginning. If it evolves naturally, it will no doubt manifest itself in one of two systems of categorization.

Either committees will be "Infantile Sex," "Subteen Sex," "Adolescent Sex," "Adult Sex" (first semester, "Marriage" second, "Extra Marital"), and "Geriatric Sex"; or they will be "Normal Sex," "Abnormal Sex," "Borderline Sex," and "Sublimated Sex." Whichever system prevails, the course will, I expect, remain in the domain of the Physical Education and Guidance Departments.

If the committee builds the specialization into its program from the beginning, however, it will, I am sure, save many years of experimentation, partial successes, re-evaluations, and, to be frank, in fighting. My idea is to make each department of the school responsible for at least one course in sex education, perhaps advanced courses. I think this is sufficient interest. There will be, then, Historical Sex, Chemical Sex, Biological Sex, Mathematical Sex, Literary Sex — but I believe the obvious. If the committee likes my suggestion, it will work out the details. In closing, I should like to state plainly what is implicit in my letter: Congratulations to a really forward-looking group.

ELOISE K. GOREAU
37 Murray Place

P.S.: One word of caution: Italian Sex, French Sex, Russian Sex, etc. have rather paucal overtones. Perhaps "Foreign Sexes" or "Sexual Linguistics" would be a better course for language departments to offer.

"Disciple." Delivered.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

The performance of "The Devil's Disciple" at McCarter by the Regency Company is brilliant, stirring and worthy of the Shavian play. The acting ranges from good to superb. The performance of George in the title role is outstanding.

Your correspondent, previously a resident of New York

City, wrote a weekly column about Broadway plays for the Christian Science Monitor, and also wrote a syndicated column on the same subject.

This activity provided the opportunity to see various productions of Shaw plays, including "The Devil's Disciple," and the performance at McCarter is unexcelled.

Since when is an American audience "compelled" to rise at the playing of the national anthem? The reviewer might well go to any football game at Palmer Stadium and watch the voluntary rising of the audience when the national anthem is played.

Such a comment in your paper is unfortunate. I do not suggest that your reviewer is a traitor, but perhaps biased. The University has a considerable stake in McCarter, and I may suggest that the English Department provide a joint reviewer — someone experienced in the drama field. A double review, therefore, might be a fair practice, just as you carry so in particular columns, "Why I Am a Republican," and "Why I Am a Democrat."

J. C. LONG
Edgell Street

A Vote for Brown.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

In this week's Town Topics, Walter Foster says the Republic is the "greatest possible communication" between citizenry and the Township Committee. This is good news indeed, but I hope he will pardon some skepticism, for such communication has certainly not been the prevailing pattern.

Years ago, only one government have permitted the Township Committee to become lethargic, self-serving and unresponsive. Public interest tend to get settled in secret and unveiled for public view at the last moment when only the most vigorous and determined public opposition can effect the outcome.

The revision of the Township zoning ordinance and the dispute over a post office are recent examples. The Township has had enough of this "Father knows best" kind of government.

Characteristically, the Township Committee looks away from developing problems until it is too late to do anything except make an inadequate gesture of response. Princeton lies within a rapidly changing metropolitan area. We can neither stop this change nor preserve the characteristics that make Princeton an attractive place to live unless considerable foresight is brought to bear upon the problems that are developing from changes outside of Princeton.

We are being singled by a steadily increasing number of industrial plants around Princeton, the impact of which will be felt in many ways. We cannot deal with these problems any longer by pretending they have no effect on Princeton, or by wailing until we are overwhelmed. Bringing suit to stop the Squibb plant in Lawrence Township is a perfect example of: "Too little and too late."

The steady expansion of the hospital is another example of response to changing conditions without adequate planning or public involvement. — Continued on Next Page

The result is a significant change in Princeton without regard for the impact on residents of the neighborhood, traffic, or consideration of alternative ways of meeting the unthought need.

Monty Brown cannot change all this by himself, but his election to the Township Committee would provide a minority voice which could insist upon public involvement at an earlier stage in the development of public policy than is now the case. His election would also provide a voice on the Township Committee for those who wish us to begin to meet problems while there is still time to be effective.

Monty Brown is the kind of man who thinks ahead — there is little evidence that his opponent does. Indeed, Monty Brown's opponent espouses the kind of government which resisted for years the construction of a swimming pool, but now that it is generally accepted as an adornment of Princeton — claims credit for it. On the other hand, Monty Brown represents the kind of government which will try to adapt to the changes occurring around us which we cannot stop, while preserving as much as possible of what we love about this community.

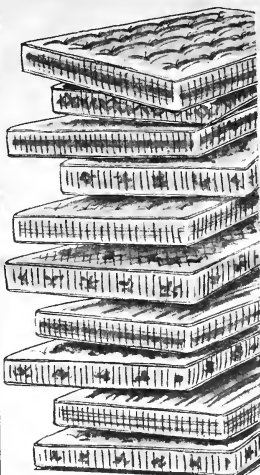

It will not be preserved by continuing to stick our heads in the sand, or by private agreements, privately arrived at. If we wish to improve the government of Princeton Township in these respects, we will elect Monty Brown.

TWO HOMES RANSACKED
Attempted Entry at Third.
Two Princeton homes were entered and ransacked Sunday and there was an attempted entry to a third, which was reported the following morning to Township Police.

The home of Max F. Zullig, 477 Cherry Hill Road, was entered between 1:15 and 8:30 p.m. by someone who cut the back screen door and forced the lock. Detective Fred Porter reported that the only article known to be taken at this time is a $30 necklace. Sgt. Jack Peirone investigated the entry.

The home of Dr. Milton G. White, 124 Quaker Road, was entered and ransacked between 7 and 9:30 p.m. Ptl. Howard Sweeney investigated and police report it is possible nothing was taken. As yet, the Whites have produced no list of missing articles. Dr. White is director of the Accelerator at the Forrestal Research Center on Route 1.

Detective Porter also reported that there was an attempt to enter the home of Paul Padock, 9 Ober Road, probably Sunday or early Monday morning.

There was evidence of attempts to pry open the front door and the side french doors. Both were unsuccessful, police said. Ptl. Frank Cox investigated.

PLANS ARE UNVEILED

For $13 Million Park. Development plans for an ambitious $13 million park in Mercer County were unveiled Sunday at the County court house in Trenton.

Known as Assumpcion Park, the land covers 2,700 acres primarily in West Windsor Township, with portions in Hamilton and Lawrence townships. It is bounded by the Old Trenton Road, Conover Road, Village Road, West and Hughes Drive.

Plans for the park include almost every type of recreational facility available including:

- A 200-acre lake for bathing, fishing, boating, and ice skating with a 5,000-seat amphitheater.
- An outdoor tennis court with 30 courts, and a special tournament court with seating for 400 spectators.

• A "Disneyland" type of area for children with a 3-4 mile zoo, a regular zoo, model railroad and storyland.

• A 30,000-seat sports stadium.

• Multi-purpose fields for archery, baseball, football, soccer and basketball.

• Two 18-hole golf courses.

• Wooded areas for camping, picnicking, bicycle paths, riding trails, equestrian, stables and riding rings.

Development of the park is broken down into four phases, a five year plan costing about $1.6 million; a 10 year plan, $1.7 million; a 15 year plan, $1.4 million; and beyond 20 years, $1.1 million. Unfunded here isn't $13 million sitting in the county treasury earmarked for the park.

Frederick Richard J. Coffey, who is also president of the park commission, estimates that half the cost can be covered by federal and private funds. The remaining $6.5 million would have to come from the county.

The Vietnam War is currently putting a squeeze on money in a 1-1/2 additional federal monies out from various agencies is very doubtful. But Mr. Coffey points out that since the county already has its plans drawn up, it could be first in line after the war ends.

Mr. Coffey pointed out that full development of the park was aimed at the year 2000 when Mercer's present 300,000 population is expected to reach half a million, and the tax base has grown to a point where entire development is feasible.

The county hopes to begin work on the park in the spring with construction of two baseball, two softball two soccer and two outdoor basketball courts.

Correction

In last week's issue of TOWN TOPICS, the hours for the Princeton Junction Bar Shop were inadvertently listed incorrectly. The shop is open from 8:30 until 6 Monday-Friday, Saturdays until 5.

A LOOK AT THE FUTURE: Along about the year 2000, county officials expect that Mercer's $13 million Assumpcion Park will be completed. There will be two golf courses, located in upper center of picture; tennis center, upper right; a zoo, lower left, sports stadium and arena, lower center; and camping area, lower right. The 2,700-acre park is located mostly in West Windsor Township, with parts in Hamilton and Lawrence.

courts with night lighting. This will cost around $180,000 half of which has already been appropriated, and the remainder expected in the form of a federal grant.

Also included in the first stage are the development of camping, picnicking, hiking and horse-back riding facilities, sewer and water development and possibly early stadium and tennis center construction.

One other possibility for the park is an elaborate mosaic system to interconnect the various major areas of the park, which is twice the size of the New York World's Fair site.

According to Mr. Coffey present plans are about 75% complete. Final plans will come next year after several public hearings with officials from West Windsor, Lawrence and Hamilton townships.

PHOTOGRAPHERS MEET

To Form Workshop. Fifteen amateur photographers from the Princeton area have organized a Princeton Photographic Workshop. An outlined at its first formal meeting, the workshop will work toward developing photographic art association in the Princeton area.

At the meeting, temporary officers were named to head the workshop until a formal constitution can be drawn up. Details and goals of the organization were also discussed. The first official meeting of the workshop is scheduled for November 8 when members will begin a program highlighting both the art and the mechanics of photography. Anybody interested in joining the group should call 821-8237.

SUPER PLANNED

By Supremacies. The Annual County Women's Dinner of the Princeton Sororophomists Club will take place Tuesday, beginning with cocktails at 5:30 followed by dinner at 7:15. News Of The CHURCHES

OUTREACH UNDER WAY
To Negro Community. The Princeton congregation of the Church of Christ began Sunday a week-long effort to reach members of the Princeton Negro community through house-to-house calls.

Assisting them are three Negro clergymen of the denomination: Eugene Lawton of Newark, Lamar Clark of Pittsfield, Mass., and Nathan Carter of Trenton, according to Ervyn Boothe, minister of the Princeton church.

Members are inviting Negro families to visit in their homes and to the planned lecture-discussion series to be held at the church beginning this Sunday.

The gospel series, titled "Effective Human Relations by Restoration of New Testament Church," will be headed by Lamar Clark at meetings scheduled for 10:30 a.m. and 8:30 p.m. this Sunday. Eugene Lawton will continue the series next week, speaking daily at 7:30 p.m. Informal discussions will close each session. A fellowship supper will be held on Sunday.

The church, which meets at the Shiloh Church on East Ave., will begin on the following week a Sunday morning class for converts and interested persons on fundamental subjects taught by Mr. Boothe. Members will also study privately with the newcomers.

FUNDS NEEDED
For Arab Refugee Relief. The All Saints' Chapel Discernment Fund is again requesting support for Arab refugee relief.

A desperate new refugee crisis continues to build up in the Middle East. The Rev. Harry J. Lauer Jr., Chapel vicar said this week in announcing the need for further assistance.

Throughout the summer, both Trinity Church and All Saints' Chapel have been collecting funds and clothing. A total of about 500 pounds of clothing and blankets have been sent. The Rev. Lauer said in Amman, Jordan, by way of Church World Service in New York City.

The Rev. Mr. Lauer is continuing to handle financial contributions which are forwarded to Episcopal Bishop Najib Cubi Tannir. The bishop is overseer of the Arab Episcopal Churches of Jordan, Lebanon and Syria. In June 1967 war added 200,000 more homeless to the 1,100,000 total in the Middle East.

About half who fled from Israel-occupied Jordan had not been refugees before, the Rev. Mr. Lauer said, the rest had been displaced persons. All funds for social welfare, which came from the Jerusalem diocese, he said, have now been cut off, leaving refugees at the next level of the Jordan penniless and with many unemployed.

Contributions from Princeton will be used toward the Episcopal orphanage in Hammat and the St. Luke's Hospital in Nabulus. Contributors may direct funds to "All Saints' Discernment Fund, All Saints' Chapel, Van Dyke Road.

ENGLISH CANON BEGINS
At St. Paul's. The first of the mass will be heard in English for the first time this Sunday at St. Paul's, when the Rev. Paul's Roman Catholic Church and the Aquinas Foundation.

This is one of the changes that has been appreciated by the laymen. The Rev. Hugh F. House of St. Paul's said Tuesday. "Formerly the canon was said in Latin in a subdued voice. Now it is said loudly for all to hear. It flows easily in translation."

In preparation for the changes, the canon of the mass in English have been available at five centers throughout the Trenton diocese for priests to stu-

DEDICATION HELD: The new auxiliary church and catechetical school of rapidly-growing St. James R. C. Parish, Pennington, was dedicated on Sunday by Bishop George W. Albr. The Rev. Francis L. Zerkewicz, pastor, assisted. Located on Eagleline Avenue, the colonial-style building contains four classrooms, a kitchen, a 500-seat cafeteria and a multi-purpose auditorium with a push-button stage that is lowered to six inches above the floor when mass is held and electrically-operated basketball backboards which fold away into the ceiling. (Staff Photo)

"It is essential for the edification of the faithful and, clearly," the Diocesan Liturgical Commission said in a bulletin to the priests last week.

"Any effort that is made to help the people have a greater part in the mass is very, very good," Fr. Roman commented. St. Paul's will also begin the Forty Hours Devotions to Our Lord and Blessed Sacrament at 12:30 mass this Sunday. The observance closes at 4 a.m. mass on Tuesday.

Mrs. George Thomas of Trinity Episcopal Church is serving as coordinator. Tea will be served at 12:30 p.m. followed by a talk by the Rev. Ralph Chandler on the topic "Who Shall Separate Us." Layettes and children's clothing for the Vietnamese will be presented by the various churches. Good certificates are available for those who would like to contribute.

Sukkot Begins

The annual observance of Sukkot, the Season of Gladness, began Wednesday at the 7:18 p.m. family service at Princeton Jewish Center. Rabbi Everett Gredler officiated. The holiday is celebrated in synagogues throughout the world as the most joyous of all sacred events in the Jewish religious calendar.

Sukkot observance carries a dual meaning, nature and history, as it evokes the harvest celebrations of ancient Israel and the later exodus from Egypt.

The processional with the lulav and etrog (a palm branch, myrtle and willow sprigs) and a citron is a reminder of the bounty of nature. The foliage covered palm, partly open to the sky, is a reminder of both the rude huts of the ancient harvesters and the shelters of Moses' people as they traveled through the desert.

Special Sukkot services are also scheduled for Friday and Saturday and Friday mornings.

HIS COURAGE EARNS HIM SCHOLARSHIP: Michael D. DeMauro, Hun School sophomore, receives from Hun Headmaster Paul R. Chesbro the first Michael Daniel DeMauro Scholarship, established in his honor for the courage and bravery he displayed this summer in rescuing five persons off the Jersey shore. Story this page.

TOPICS Of The Town

SCHOLARSHIP CREATED to Honor of Hun Student. The Hun School has established the Michael Daniel DeMauro Scholarship in honor of Hun sophomore, Michael DeMauro, who this summer saved five persons from drowning off the Jersey shore.

Dr. Paul R. Grosche, Headmaster said that the $500 scholarship had been set up in Michael's honor for his demonstration of courage, selflessness and service beyond the call of duty. It will be awarded to a member of the sophomore class who during his freshman year has most consistently exemplified these qualities.

Members of the Hun School and administration will make the annual selection. Mike will be the first recipient.

In addition, Mike has been awarded the gold medal for heroism by Boy Scout Troop 88, and was cited by Governor Hughes and Township Manager Carl Schaffer, the Younger brother, Steve, 13, who also had a hand in the rescue, has been awarded the Boy Scout Silver Medal for heroism.

The rescue took place July 15 in the surf off Harvey Cedars. Mike spotted a man and four children caught in a strong undercurrent, yelling for help. Without a moment's hesitation, he grabbed a life buoy, stripped off his clothes, and swam out to the victims.

When he had all five safely supported on the lifeline attached to the buoy, he signaled his father, younger brother and others on the beach to pull the line in. Mike stayed with them until they were all safely on shore.

Rescued were Richard McAllister, 42, of Staten Island, his three children, and Laura Gilroy, 15. Mr. McAllister later said that Mike had taken complete charge of the situation. He reported he had jumped into the surf to help his children, after seeing they were in trouble, but that he, too, had become caught in the powerful current.

Mike has in his possession a beautifully written account of the incident, sent to him by the McAllister family expressing their heartfelt "thank you." He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Peter DeMauro, 639 Prospect Avenue, Extension, DeMauro is a Princeton dentist.

An elder brother, David, graduated from Hun in 1966, and is now attending the University of Delaware.

CANDIDATES ON VIEW At Coming Ballies. Both the Princeton League of Women Voters and the West Windsor League of Women Voters have scheduled Candidates

Nights for next week. The Princeton group has set its program for 8:15 on Wednesday in the auditorium of the John Witherspoon School. Borough candidates participating in the roundtable discussion will include: Democrat Archibald S. Alexander, Jr., and Republican Henry S. Patterson, II, mayoral hopefuls; Democrats James E. Andrews and Wilbert Brooks and Republicans Alan W. Carrock and Fred R. Peterson, candidates for Borough Council.

Township Committee candidates are Democrat Montague Brown and Republicans Harry J. Valwieder and William L. Wilson.

The contestants will engage in a discussion of such problems as the recommendations of the Dilley Report, pressures of urbanization on housing, the worsening traffic conditions and the youth problems. Moderating the discussion and the subsequent question and answer period will be Mrs. Neal Locke, first vice president of the New Jersey League of Women Voters.

The West Windsor Candidates Night will take place at 8:15 on Tuesday in the Dutch Neck town hall.

The four men seeking election to the West Windsor Township Committee will present a brief platform statement and then answer questions from the floor. The candidates include Democrats William Stuart and Elmer McHugh and Republicans Melvin C. Firman and Charles W. Holman.

Mrs. Martin Schwarzschild will moderate the program. Mrs. Robert W. Frigge will act as timekeeper, while serving as hostesses will be Mrs. Daniel Rosend, Mrs. Arthur Miller and Mrs. Joseph Pilaro. Mrs. John Thompson is in charge of arrangements.

Acting as timekeeper at the Princeton Candidates Night will be Mrs. Robin Achley. Mrs. Seymour Alpert, Mrs. Melvin Gottlieb, Mrs. Robert Lenby, Mrs. David Lays and Mrs. William Macfie will assist Mrs. Charles Gilvarg, meeting chairman, as hostesses.

CLINICS SET For Dog Vaccinations. The Boards of Health of Princeton Township and Princeton Borough have scheduled rabies clinics from 4 to 6 Thursday and Friday. Dogs will be given free rabies vaccinations at the clinics.

The vaccinations will enable residents to comply with the Township ordinance that dogs be inoculated against rabies within the six months preceding the date the filing for a dog license. Thursday's clinic will be held in the Township Hall Garage. Friday's will be in the Borough Garage on Harrison Street.

TOWN TOPICS reaches every home and place of business served by the Princeton Post office. Their own feature to other Princeton newspapers does half as well.

News Of The THEATRES

"TWELFTH NIGHT"
 Al McCarter. They were giving emergency first aid to Shakespeare purists at the opening of McCarter's "Twelfth Night," but as an impious improviser, we thought it was great, really great. By "great," we mean it comes off. There is enough substance in "Twelfth Night" to back up director Jon Jory's concepts and make them valid with one possible caveat, and we'll caveat in a minute as soon as we can pull off our yellow stockings.

This is a merry, delicious and beautifully acted production, clean, sharp and limpid, the direction not only imaginative but thoughtful as well.

Merry? That dual scene, in which the cowardly Sir Andrew faces the terrified Viola (disguised as a boy), each believing the other a ferocious swordsman... the midnight revelry with Sir Andrew and Sir Toby and Feste the Clown and a great great deal of wine inside all three but very little left in the bottle... the second dual scene with Sir Andrew thinking he faces cowardly Viola but actually facing her twin brother who is indeed a ferocious swordsman... lovely, lovely.

Rock! Playing this side of "Twelfth Night," Mr. Jory treats it as an entertainment.

In the modern manner. Costumes and props are Elizabethan, but we have interlarded music by a fine group of musicians from Liverpool, and an excellent English madrigal called "You're Gonna Lose That Girl," which is only too true, as Orsino, Duke of Illyria, discovers toward the end of the last act.

But then, Mr. Jory takes this merry and sunny comedy and by flipping its golden coin, shows us the darker side. You knew the darker side was there, didn't you? Have STOP! Last-minute rescue from a fate worse than life—that's the ending of Shaw's "The Devil's Disciple." The Disciple himself, Dick Dudgeon, played by George Heern, is shown about to leap into clerical, "The Devil's Disciple" is now in repertory at McCarter Theatre.

You ever really thought it was too? "Youth's a stuff will not endure," he sings, and "Come away, come away, death..." Here in this production, he is an old man with long white hair and beard, and subject to a terminal case — far so it turns out to be — of something that looks like angina.

This lends added depth to one of Feste's closing lines ("And thus the whizzing of time brings in his revenge,") and it is a characterization which is essential for the startling turn Mr. Jory has concocted for the end of this "Twelfth Night," but it does not illumine quite so successfully.

McCARTER THEATRE

Box 526, Princeton 921-8700 (609)

David Byrd and Mr. Jory have conceived, not the usual comic fall guy, but a dark and sombre Malvolio, a man of gloom even when he tries stiffly to prance in his new yellow stockings.

When the Countess has him poked away as mad, we see him in a literal cage, subjected to actual physical torture of the kind once used so casually on madmen. When he is released at last, turns at his final exit and says darkly, "I'll be revenged on the whole pack of you," there is the shimmer of a dark shadow, Mr. Byrd's Malvolio will brood long and deep on that revenge, and come it will.

A Sad Clown, Mr. Jory has also decided to turn his dark beam on Feste, the Clown. You knew there was sadness there,

TO APPEAR IN GENET: "The Balcony," a play of fantasy and eroticism by Jean Genet, will be given this weekend by Theatre Intime on the University campus. Sheila Sheffield (left) portrays Carmen and Anne Shelton is Mme. Irma.

For shores up Shakespeare: by moving a bed on-stage and wrapping Sir Toby and his wench in its feather quilt; by inventing pantomime scenes in which Orsino is shown as genuinely fond of his young page and therefore more likely to fall in love when he finds the page is a woman; and, as we said, showing as the actual torment of poor Malvolio.

We haven't said much about the lovely poetry of "Twelfth Night," and neither, in his direction, has Mr. Jory. Lines are spoken to carry forward story and characterization and not to spin out beauty. Well, you can't have everything.

And so, in the whirling of time, we come to the end. We are not going to tell you what Mr. Jory does at the end. This is his surprise and it will be yours but it is an honest ghost, that let me tell you --
--Katharine H. Bretail

Sir Andrew Aguecheek -- ah, Jake Denzell. Achingly funny, a man who can bring laughter from an empty wine bottle or from yellow hair that hangs like a distaff, a great imitator of frogs, a great singer of catches but a shaky catcher of swords, an actor who can make you see a sudden brief shadow when he says "I was adored once, too!"

Sir Toby Belch, a more earth-bound Falstaff, is Ronald Steinhilber, awash with wine and song and joyously occupying a room with Maria the serving girl with a happy inspiration of Mr. Jory's.

THE FILM-FLAM MAN: Michael Sarrazin and Sue Lyon discuss breaking away from the old con man in this scene from the comedy at the Garden Theatre.

COMING...
To McCartier, "Or, to put it another way, 'not coming to McCartier.'" The off-Broadway play, "Hogan's Goat" has been postponed and will appear on Sunday, January 7 instead of the original October date. Tickets purchased for the October appearance will be honored in January.
SRO for this Saturday's 8 p.m. appearance of Ravi Shanker in Alexander Hall. His first performance, Monday, was completely sold out.

Judy Collins will precede Shanker into Alexander Hall, arriving for a performance this Friday at 8. She will sing from the score of "Marat/Sade," among other things.
The Princeton Regional Ballet will open the four-event Ballet Series on Sunday, November 12.

Repertory Schedule: "Devil's Disciple" will be played this Friday and next Saturday, October 28. "Twelfth Night" will be given this Saturday and next Thursday and Friday, October 26 and 27. Next Thursday's performance will be at 7:30, all the rest for both plays, at 8:30.

PLAYHOUSE and PRINCE: To Sir With Love (held over) Sidney Poitier in a schoolmaster-type story with racial undertones. Reviewed in last week's issue.

GARDEN
The Film-Flam Man (now playing) George C. Scott, who has played everything from a posthumous hustler to Biblical Abraham with remarkable skill, is cast as an old con man, a legendary film-flammer, who proudly proclaims, "My line is great."
His apprentice, or shill, is Michael Sarrazin, a profiteer from the army, who "don't hold with cheating" but sticks with him at first because the law is their common enemy, and later because he takes a liking to him.
Although Scott basks every-where in sight without the slightest trace of conscience, he does manage to demonstrate time and again that his victims have only their own greed to blame. He's a likable old scoundrel, with a bitter edge of loneliness giving him added dimension.

The two men are constantly on the run in Kentucky's Blue Grass country, and the camera sweeps the countryside in beautiful photographic images. Director Irvin Kershner also includes one of the wildest and funniest chase scenes imaginable.

NEW STRAND
Blow-up and The Lovers of Teret (through Sunday) Michaelangelo Antonioni's "Blow-up" is an off-beat treatise on the life and work of a fashion photographer who is not adverse to using his talent in other areas as well.

The photographer, David Hemmings, photographs an attractive woman (Vanessa Redgrave) and an older man while they are strolling in a London park. The lady chases him and demands the film. He fobs her off with another roll of film, and finds upon developing his pictures that there is a corpse in the background. In typical Antonioni fashion, the murder-mystery becomes sidetracked into a commentary on the social and moral irresponsibility of many people today.

"The Lovers of Teret" is a narrative film in the form of a ballet.

Why Plan to Vote

REPUBLICAN

DEMOCRATIC

By Albridge C. Smith III

By Seymour Montgomery

It will vote the straight Republican ticket for Borough of Princeton. I have no doubt that the continuation of the present administration will continue and extend their record of accomplishments for the Borough.

Mayor Patterson has developed, through long hours of devoted and consistent service, a program of progress for Princeton Borough. Every major objective of his administration has been realized in substantial form — a new Youth Center, new public housing, the long-sought street parallel to Nassau Street, a joint library, a new joint recreational commission and substantial recreational facilities, a new Master Plan, a Shade Tree Commission, a joint Green Acres acquisition program, and a modern Borough Hall.

He has demonstrated his preference for a mature approach and thorough study of each proposal rather than precipitous action which can generate undesired problems. A continuous effort has been made by him to relieve congestion on our streets, and he has successfully sought the cooperation of neighboring municipalities in the solution of this regional problem which is largely beyond local control. A strong cooperative drive is now being made to develop a program, like the so-called Loop Road around Princeton, a project which is coming to fruition after almost ten years of continuous effort. Mayor Patterson and his administration have been in the forefront of this cooperative solution to the traffic and congestion problem.

The Democratic candidate argues that Princeton needs a housing plan, a traffic solution, a youth center, a minimized taxation and a mayor available to all. He is apparently unaware that most of these laudable objectives have already been accomplished by the Patterson administration, i.e., a new housing development for the elderly on Harrison Street is about to start, a Council resolution recognizing the need for moderate income housing has been passed, and efforts are underway to find means to finance such a program; the Youth Center is a reality; our municipal tax rates, to the extent they are within the realm of Mayor and Council control, have been maintained within reasonable limits despite greater demands for services and facilities by Borough residents. This is largely due to the effort of the Borough and Township Republican administration to develop and finance worthwhile programs jointly and thereby avoid duplication and hold down costs to the taxpayers.

Mr. Patterson has never shirked his duty so far as he is available to local citizens. Mr. Alexander as a practicing lawyer in Newark, New Jersey, would have difficulty matching Mr. Patterson's record.

Princeton Borough has been well governed by the Patterson administration. I say we need more of the same quality of government. This can only be guaranteed by electing Mayor Patterson, with his colleagues, for another term.

Alan W. Carrick, a member of the Borough Council since 1962, has been a resident of Princeton Borough for many years. He is a lawyer and has been active as a member of the Borough Planning Board. He has also been a member of the Open Space Committee, and has been well known for his activities in numerous civic and charitable organizations in the community.

A long-time resident of Princeton Borough, I plan to vote for Archibald S. Alexander, Jr. for Mayor, James Andrews and Wilbert Brooks for Council and Marie Coan for Tax Collector, because they have demonstrated their belief that government must maintain contact with the people, must develop programs to meet needs defined through this contact, and then must build community support behind their programs.

By contrast, the present Borough administration has become more and more isolated from the people, and is increasingly unwilling to take the initiative to meet even the most obvious needs.

The fondness of the present county (and successfully), Mayor and Council for the status quo results in policies for those very desirable results which deal with problems dental areas were modified largely on an ad hoc, unplanned, sometimes crash, Borough, despite objection, the basis. There is some ability to four-lane arterial streets were free ahead, but not the wisdom left in the Master Plan. The to save money by spending to philosophy remains, then, and meet a problem before it becomes a crisis. I am confident that fresh cannot be swept under the rug, the cost of doing something it is apt to be far greater than if proper steps had been taken earlier.

In deciding to vote for Borough Democratic candidates, I have also been strongly influenced by their firm views and articulate rejection of the philosophy of the new Master Plan which is that we can do nothing about the automobile problem except create more solutions to the problem, i.e., build more roads and parking areas can grow ever greater. The plan proposed several new four-lane arterial roads. The alignment of some of our most beautiful residential streets. These arterial roads were stated to be for the purpose of facilitating the flow of traffic through the Borough coming from the outside. Many of the property owners in these residential areas protested vigorously (and successfully), and the expansion of the arterial roads was modified. However, in other parts of the Borough, despite objection, the four-lane arterial streets were free ahead, but not the wisdom left in the Master Plan. The

It seems inconceivable that we must have in Borough office persons who can face change, who can deal with it realistically, who can plan to shape it to our best community purposes, and who can thus prevent us from being unwittingly overrun by it and ruined beyond repair.

We are almost the last outpost of attractive and traditional on Next Page.

PRINCETON ARCHITECTURE

A Pictorial History of Town and Campus

Constance M. Greiff, Mary W. Gibbons, and Elizabeth G. C. Menzies

The homes and churches of Princeton, its campus towers and buildings reflect the changes in American architecture from colonial times to the present. From Nassau Hall to Yamasaki's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, opened in 1965.

Miss Menzies' sensitive photographs, together with the superb selection of contemporary prints, photographs, and maps, capture not only the charm but also the special characteristics of Princeton architecture. The authors relate these examples to the town's history and to American architectural development. 200 pages. 194 illustrations.

nicipal affairs which we are fortunate to have. He is an outstanding candidate and should be re-elected.

Fred R. Peterson is a life long resident of Mercer County, a Princeton University graduate and a former resident of Hopewell Borough where he gave that community many years of excellent service, culminating with his election as Mayor.

He brings to Princeton Borough not only this valuable public experience, but also his experience as a financial man and his many years as a business man on Nassau Street. He is a fine candidate, whom position is now one of the considerable controversy. Mrs.

St. John is campaigning on a program to bring the incompetent from doing the wrong thing.

In my opinion, the perpetuation of this office at its present salary is a waste of taxpayers' money. Mrs. St. John maintains that this job is not necessary, because the Borough has no other office manand staff who are highly competent to carry the entire burden of office. The maintains that steps should be taken through legislation granting municipal option, and in any event to reduce its cost of $2-400 annually which is unreasonably expensive.

Mrs. St. John, a college graduate, has always been interested in municipal affairs. She

From meeting with and coming to know the Democratic candidates in the Borough, I have become convinced that their attitudes, philosophies and capabilities will bring leadership in this vitally important area of growth pressure as in the many other areas of local government where it is so important for all people of the Borough.

My confidence in the results that can be expected from the Democratic candidates is bolstered when I consider their previous accomplishment and qualification. It has been a long time since either party has presented a state of equal status.

With Mr. Alexander's unquestionable intellectual attachments, his experience in the field of administrative law on state and local levels, his knowledge of planning, gained from his experience in work with the Regional Plan Association, his warm interest in people and in the future of our community, his election to the office of Mayor of Princeton Borough is a must.

Likewise, Mr. Andrews' obvious administrative and executive competence which can be expected from the present position of importance with the Princeton Theological Seminary and his interest in the future of our community make a logical choice for Borough Council. Let's, but not Brooks' long knowledge of the Borough, his ability, his integrity and which are his quietly evident to those who meet him, his work in our community for many years, many make him a must for Borough Council. Let's, but not least,
Mrs. Coan's educational background, her experience with Educational Testing Service, her many devoted years given to a host of our local community organizations and associations and her actual experience in the office of Tax Collector make her a must for that position.

RIDE TO THE AIRPORT?
Service Asks Approval. Hourly limousine service between Princeton and New York airports has been proposed before Borough Council by representatives of the New York New Jersey Limousine Service, Inc. Robert Bell, who said he was secretary and principal owner of the firm, described his service before mayor and Council as he had previously before Township Committee.

He must obtain municipal consent before the Interstate Commerce Commission will grant the necessary license. Mr. Bell said he was also seeking approval for an intra state run between Princeton and the New Jersey airports in Newark and Teletorio. This requires a license from the Public Utility Commission.

Mr. Bell told Council and Committee that 11 passenger limousines would leave hourly for the New York airports from the Nassau and Princeton Inn five days a week, skipping Saturdays.

Runs would probably be made between 6 a.m. and 7 p.m., he said and passengers would be deposited at the airline terminal of their choice, after the 30 minute ride. Fare would be $10 to the New York airports, and probably about $1.50 to Newark or Teletorio. Return trips to Princeton from the airports would probably be made between 7:30 a.m. and 10:30 p.m., he said.

Borough Councilman Robert Hendry asked Mr. Bell whether he would have enough business to keep his hourly schedule and Mr. Bell replied that if Princeton businessmen use the service had as much as Connecticut businessmen already do, he would be content. He added that, under ICC and PUC regulations, he would be required to maintain his schedule.

Mayor Henry S. Patterson mentioned the demand in the Princeton community. "I have not seen anybody breaking down doors asking for this service," he commented.

He also asked Mr. Bell whether his limousines would be serviced and garaged here and Mr. Bell said they would probably lay over in Trenton.

Mayor and Council said they would welcome inquiries from residents and businessmen on the need for the service. The question was tabled by both Council and Committee for investigation and discussion. Mr. Bell said he would notify Council of the date of his ICC hearing.

A SPLIT VOTE ON THE GOP'S CHANCES IN '68: If the Republicans nominate a moderate candidate, then Peter Stein (left) believes the GOP stands a good chance of defeating Johnson in 1968's presidential election. Edward Greenblatt, on the other hand, says the Republicans won't win, but in losing they will force Johnson to change his stand on Vietnam. (Staff Photo)

Question Of The Week

Question: Regardless of the candidate, what do you think are the chances of the Republicans winning the Presidential election in 1968?

Where asked: Palmer Square.

Peter Stein, Jefferson Road, graduate student, sociology: I think if the Democrats re-nominate Johnson and there hasn't been any change in the way the war is going in Vietnam, and if the Republicans — some of whom seem to be changing their views on the war — are able to nominate a moderate candidate, someone who would either de-escalate the war or attempt a limited withdrawal, then I feel the Republicans would have a good chance of beating Johnson and the Democrats.

Edward Greenblatt, Academy Street, Princeton, graduate student at NYU, economics: I stand a chance of upsetting Johnson in '68 — assuming Johnson will be the Democratic candidate. But I also feel, regardless of the outcome of the presidential election, the Republicans will do quite well in state and local elections as they did in 1966. I think there will be a strong enough vote — if the Republicans run a moderate candidate — against Johnson that it will force him to change his present policy with respect to the war in Vietnam. While I think the Republicans' chances of winning are small, I feel they will be able to make the Democrats to make changes in their platform and subsequent policies.

Mrs. Charles Terry, 124 Randall Road, housewife: I think if the Republicans nominate Rockefeller he would draw more votes than any other candidate but I still feel Johnson would win. It's terribly hard to defeat an incumbent president, I think, regardless that a lot of people don't agree with Johnson on the Vietnam war, that Johnson will be reelected.

Arthur Lessler, East Brunswick, patent attorney: I think they're pretty good. I feel Johnson has gone out of his way to alienate both sides in the Vietnam situation. He's not satisfying the hawks and he's not satisfying the doves. About the only ones who seem to be in favor of Johnson are those working for him.

Mrs. David Bradford, Magic Apartments, housewife: If I have to say regardless of the candidate, I'll say, no, I don't think the Republicans will win. I think there are candidates among the Republicans who would have a good chance of winning but they are not likely to be nominated. I do feel if the Republicans nominate someone who offers a real alternative to the present administration with respect to Vietnam, then I believe there will be a strong likelihood he would win.

Robert Cox, Pyne Hall, University student. Even though I'm a Democrat, I think they're damn good. My reason for saying they're good is Rockefeller. Without Rockefeller, I think the Republicans' chances are fairly weak. If there is such a thing as Democrats for Rockefeller, I'd be for it.

Mrs. Hunter Rowlands, Lawrence Court, housewife: According to the polls they seem pretty good; Johnson's popularity is going down. But, I don't feel they are so good, actually. I think most people — even those who have come out against Johnson, including Robert Kennedy, and there's a switch — don't like the idea of changing horses in the middle of the stream. Johnson has a terribly difficult job: half the people are against him for not escalating the war and half are against him for not trying to end it. And there aren't any real strong Republican candidates. Rockefeller, I feel, is the best.

Joe Clark, Walter Hall, station agent for N.Y. & N.J. I think they are very good because of the way Johnson has been running the war, mainly the question on everyone's mind, at least according to the polls. He doesn't seem to be keeping everyone happy. There's always the chance people will go back to him out of a sense of security... not wanting to change to someone who might be worse. But Johnson is going to have to come up with something new and better on Vietnam.

Miss Paul Bennett, Witherspoon Street, executive secretary: Right now, I'd say they are about 50 to 49 in favor of the Republicans. Johnson seems to be losing his popularity.

Roger Lahow, Hopewell, telephone installer: I feel they have a pretty good chance — just the way things are going in Vietnam. Everybody seems to be dissatisfied with the way the war is going. Yes, I think their chances are pretty good. There seems to be a mood for a change, but I don't know if this will be true when it comes time to vote. If the Republicans get the right candidate they're all set. That will be the big problem: to get two candidates who will please everybody.

Alonso Davis, Trenton, driver for Verbeest Cleaners: I don't think too much of their chances. With the situation it is now, I feel it would be unwise to change presidents. I think a lot of people feel the same way — stick with Johnson.

Robert Scott, 10 Sergeant Street, assistant professor, Princeton University: Very slim. While I think the Republicans...

Private Frank E. Beeks, son of Mrs. Dorothy H. Beeks, 45 Wheatland Road, has enrolled at the Army School in Fort Monmouth, N. J. Private Beeks, an alumnus of the Hun School, was graduated from the University of Colorado in 1967.

Dr. William K. Seiden, 37 Golden Lane, educational administrator and founder of the Princeton Arts Council, will be honored for his work in art education by the National Association of Schools of Art Thursday in Philadelphia. James R. Shipley, head of the University of Illinois art department, will present the citation to Dr. Seiden in recognition of his "wisdom and dedication to the Association during a critical period when the decision was made to accept responsibility as an accrediting agency for professional programs in the visual arts." During that time, Dr. Seiden was executive director of the National Commission on Accrediting in Washington, D. C.

Raymond Hunt, 301 Nassau Street, has been nominated for a second term as president of the New Jersey Middle-Aged Teachers Association. Mr. Hunt is coordinator of French in the Middle School of the Princeton Regional School system.

A charter member of the recently organized American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages, Mr. Hunt has been named to an investigating committee in the organization. Connolly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Connolly, 12 Fairview Avenue.

publicans have candidates who would be able to defeat Johnson, I don't think they have a chance of getting the nomination.

Donald Kuspi, Ann Arbor, Mich., college professor: I feel they are very slim. I still think Republicans are considered reactionaries by most of the country. They may be able to offer solutions to Vietnam but they would be unable to solve domestic problems. They are still regarded as a reactionary party. The Old Guard, in effect, I don't feel the majority of the people are with them. The majority, I believe, are democratic liberals.

DON'T NEGLECT A SORE THROAT

Even a minor sore throat can be extremely dangerous to a child if neglected. It might be one of the early symptoms of rheumatic fever and this disease causes more deaths than polio did before Dr. Salk.

The cause of rheumatic fever is the streptococcus germ which can be easily identified by your physician. The diagnosis must be as soon as possible. Beginning symptoms are the innocent looking minor sore throat, a feeling of fatigue and cold joint pains. Don't wait for the severe stages when the sore throat develops with a high fever, sore neck glands, red and swollen joints. By this time irreparable damage may have been done to the heart.

All for the price of a fancier priced car.

$3260 is the latest average price paid for a new car these days. (So says the Automobile Manufacturers Association.) $3260 will also buy you a new range, a new refrigerator, a new dryer, a new washer, two new television sets, a record player and a $1,695 Volkswagen.

Of course our little package doesn't include all those tricky little items you find on those fancier-priced cars. (like electric ashtray cleaners, or headlights that disappear when the sun comes out.)

But it does include good food, clean clothes, nice music and a chance to watch all the summer races in color.

A lot of people frown on a Volkswagen because they feel it doesn't offer enough in the way of fancy gadgetry.

Look again.

DEFENSE IN DIFFICULTY
Cornell Knew It All Along
Rutgers ran for 236 yards against Princeton and Columbia passed for 238. Cornell coach Jack Mumick knew he had a team which could both run and pass, and after careful study of the Tigers' personnel problems based on scouting reports, he came up with the ingenious prediction that "I was brought to Ilhaca to help Cornell beat Dartmouth, Harvard, Yale and Princeton, and we expect to start on Saturday."

On a day when everything Cornell did was just about perfect, and almost everything Princeton did was wrong, the Red ran for 251 yards, passed for 234 and thoroughly demolished the complacent Tigers 41-13. It was the second week in a row that an opponent had broken a number of its all-time passing records against the woefully inexperienced Princeton defense (see story below), and the solid shelling presented the food for whole-sale re-evaluation of the 1967 season.

To some degree, there is a parallel between the first three games this year and last, when the Tigers also defeated Rutgers and Columbia before an abysmal 31-13 trouncing in the third game at Hanover. The building process thereafter was painful: a 7-0 loss to Colgate followed and there were still numerous flaws visible in the triumph over weak Penn and Brown teams.

Eventually, however, the all-senior quartet of Ron Grossman, Doug James, Howard Gipson and Marty Seiberberg developed into one of the best deep secondaries in the Princeton football history. The defensive stars they staged yesterday are again evidence that Yale and Cornell were jointly responsible for the Tigers' fascinating climb from the depths of second division to a first-place tie in the Ivy League. All three games against these tough opponents were won despite the fact that the undermanned defense managed an average of just over 12 points for each.

Twice in a Row Unlikely. Last year's achievement was nothing of a minor miracle, and the hard facts today are that miracles in as closely matched a perennial chase as the lives given every fall simply to the back of the neck. If proof is needed, it exists in the class maneuvers of the available personnel—the four who made it possible a year ago were seniors—whereas most of the deep secondary personnel this year are juniors and sophomores who, in some, are feeling extra pressure because some of the defensive linemen are equally inexperienced.

So, in all probability for the duration of this season, the question of whether the Tigers win will hang on the ability of their attack to muster a minimum of three or four touchdowns on the board to offset the mistakes traceable to the growing pains of the defensive players. If the offense does not perform better than it did at Ilhaca, where its execution was sadly far below potential, some of the opponents like Cornell—who have waited five years and more to trim the

One of the basic deficiencies the Cornell game uncovered is the overall lack of team speed. Several Princeton ball carriers were overhauled by Cornell defenders after they had a clear shot at the goal line; conversely, the victors had three or four huffbacks and ends who outleagued the Tiger secondary to reach the end zone unopposed.

Early morning rain had left Schoellkopf Field soggy, with the seemingly thin turf coming up in huge divots wherever cleats twisted into it. There were many times, however, when the fired-up Cornellians and the Harvard Ichabees Princetonians seemed to be playing on a completely different surface—one that was directly based on mental attitude. The home team wanted desperately to win, and played accordingly; the visitors had beaten the other guys four times in a row, and figured the grinding machine would automatically grind out another copy.

As Aerial Circus. Cornell's desire to win was frequently symbolized by the truly spectacular catches on the part of its receivers. Time and again, they were off their feet, either leaping or diving to complete aerials that were largely beyond the grasp of the sidelines or zig-zags across the middle which caught the Tiger secondary flat-footed.

Performances of this nature made a record-breaker out of quarterback Bill Robertson. The 26-year old junior spent the 1966 season with the jays, and his superb press block this fall commented on his status as he is regarded as a strong runner, "a polite way of saying that his passing ability after two years at Ilhaca was negligible. Last Saturday against Princeton, he romped the Cornell back with 16 completions, three of them for touchdowns.

Whether Princeton's apparent belief that it had the game for the taking was unfortunately magnified by the ease with which its first touchdown came, it is difficult to say. The score was posted on the board as early as 2:10 when tailback

New Records for 20

As almost invariably happens when one team dominates a sport by a margin far exceeding anyone's expectations, numerous records were set in Saturday's Cornell-Princeton football game. In all, as many as ten were tied or broken. The 47 points for the Ilhacans were the most any team has scored against Princeton in 12 years of formal Ivy competition. They were also the highest total for Cornell in the 50 games of its rivalry with the Tigers.

The 16 pass that quarterback Bill Robertson of the Red completed, a Cornell record. The three TD passes that he threw tied a Cornell and Ivy record, as did the receptions of the same number for end Bill Murphy.

The 483 yards in total offense is Cornell's best performance in Ivy competition, while its 28 first downs are both tops in 70 Ivy games for the Red as well as ranking as an all-time Cornell mark.

For the soundly-beaten Princetonians, there was this consolation: For the years, they have tried or bettered all of the marks Cornell set last weekend.

with which is moved through the Princeton defense was ominous, and when the Orange and Black tailed out inside the home team 30 in the next two times it got possession, the shape of things to come became increasingly apparent.

Following its first quarter TD, Cornell hit for three more in the second period and added a fifth less than two minutes after the second half began. Eventually, Rich Bracken got a second score for the losers, and they were on the one-foot line when the clock ran out, their inability to punch it in against Cornell reserves symbolizing the day's futility.

The 47 points Cornell posted were the highest total against a team Dick Colman has coached here. Only the 67-7 beating by Navy in 1953 stands as a higher point-spread during the post-World War II era.

Colgate a Major Puzzle. The first chance to turn the corner on the road back had been offered Princeton Saturday in Palmer Stadium when Colgate came here for its annual appearance at the fourth opponent on the Tiger schedule. The kickoff is set for 2 o'clock. Fortunately for the wounded Princetonians, Colgate is one of the few teams in the east which has more problems than they do. In the face of numerous predictions that Coach Hal Lahia's team might equal its line 81 mark of a year ago, it has surprisingly lost half of its first four games—to Boston University, Columbia, Cornell and Holy Cross.

The Raiders have trouble with their offensive line—veteran quarterback Ron Burton was hit for a loss more than half a dozen times in the Holy Cross game, the Colgate yards gained rushing accordingly showed up as a total of ten for the afternoon. A year ago, Burton was 24th in the nation in total offense.

QUICK LOOK AT COLGATE

OFFENSE: Too thin. Heavy strain telling on two best players, quarterback and fullback, both from Mooradian.

DEFENSE: Has been outmanned by first four opponents because offense has failed to produce.

CHIEF ASSET: Burton at quarterback — a fine combination of running and punning ability.

CHIEF PROBLEM: How to put a winning effort together after four straight unexpected losses.

TYPE OF OFFENSE: T with wing and I variations.

He works in a backfield which includes Captain Don Mooradian at fullback and halfback Mary Hubbard, both standout performers in Colgate's line season a year ago. The latent ability here seems bound to explode some Saturday after the disappointing start, and it will be Princeton's problem to see that it does not this weekend.

Schoene Lost to Tigers. Bob Schoene, senior quarterback, was hurt at Ithaca and is out indefinitely. His injury involves ligaments in his knee, resulting from a block on his blind side while covering a punt under the controversial legislation which limits the number of players who may go downfield ahead of the ball and makes them "sitting ducks" for the receiving team.

After he was hurt, Princeton alternated three quarterbacks with little or no previous experience: junior Doug Fay and sophomores Dan White and John Wrizli. The offense will take some rebuilding while one of them fits into it as Schoene's replacement. Expectations are that White will start Saturday.

HOME OPENER SATURDAY

For PDS, it hardly seems appropriate to say that things are looking up for the Princeton Day School football team, winless in its first three encounters this season, but that appears to be the case with the Panthers scheduled to face St. Bernard's Saturday at 10 a.m.

For openers, the squad will play on its own field for the first time this fall, always something of an advantage. Secondly, after facing three opponents in the last three games, the Panthers have lost a game yet this fall, the Panthers meet a team with a somewhat similar record. St. Bernard's is 1-3.

Finally, quarterback Bill Rigot, one of the most valuable men on the squad, will again be calling the signals, after being sidelined last Friday during the Panthers' 21-7 loss to Montclair Academy. Rigot sprained an ankle against Chestnut Hill, and had not recovered in time to play.

Coach Dan Barren rates the contest as a toss-up, commenting that whichever team wants it the most will win. St. Bernard's is a little bigger than Montclair, he reports, but they have only won once. The team is one of the very few that runs its plays from the single wing formation.

To chalk up its first victory, PDS will have to rebound from what Barren termed "the worst game so far." "We did not block well at all," Barren said, pointing out one instance where halfback John Clag, born was wide open for a pass on successive plays, but quarterback Craig Page was smothered before he could throw.

Page Plays Well. Barren commended Page for doing a fine job in Rigot's absence, but Page's switch created other problems in the backfield. Freshman defensive end Critchton Adams, who has played well at the defensive end slot, was turned into a halfback for the day without benefit of prior experience.

Unlike its earlier games, PDS did not get off to a quick start. Twice in the first half Montclair scored once in each of the first two quarters and led 14-0 at half time. The drive for the second tally was aided by a 60-yard pass play when a Montclair receiver got ten yards behind the PDS secondary.

Barren, again, mentioned pass defense as one of the team's biggest problems. "Several times we were able to stop them on the ground," he said, "only to have them gain a first down on a pass. Page, who normally holds steady as a spot the PDS secondary, was rested on defense as the team's only healthy

In the second half, the teams battled on more even terms. Montclair scored its third touchdown in the third quarter, and PDS passed across its lone tally half way through the fourth.

Barren was pleased with the way the team moved the ball on the ground on its scoring drive, citing the running of Chaghen and Rick Jude. The tally came on a three-yard pass from Page to end Rick Ross. On defense, linebacker Frank Andrews played another fine game, making eight tackles, and assisting on 15 others.

FIRST CONFRONTATION
PMS vs. Colonia Saturday
When Woodbridge High School grew too large last year it was split in two. The new school, Colonia High School, will invade Princeton Saturday morning for a contest starting at 11.

In its first year of varsity football, Colonia, not unexpectedly, has found the going rough. In its most recent outing it was beaten badly by Edison and has lost three of its first four.

Coach Dick Wood of Princeton High School reported that Colonia has inherited some good players who previously played for Woodbridge. He added, however, that films of the Colonia eleven show it to be big in size and numbers but slow about. "They don't appear to be too well organized," said Wood.

Barring a major upset, the Little Tigers should make Colonia their lone victim in five starts—either if they play infrequently as they did against Trenton on Saturday.

PMS trounced Trenton, 56 to 7. That's inconsistent, one might well ask. Well, until the final three minutes of the second quarter the game was scoreless. Unless Trenton had outplayed the visiting Little Tigers decisively in the first quarter. "Trenton probably played its best ball of the year in that quarter," said Wood.

Then with defensive end Nick Ryan providing the spark

ONE OF SEVEN PMS TOUCHDOWNS IN THE MAKING: Jay Springer eludes the outstretched fingers of the Little Trenton defender on his way to his second touchdown in Princeton's 56-7 rout of the Tornadoes. —and one simply has to see this boy play to appreciate how accomplished he is. Within three minutes to take a 24 lead into the locker room. From there on it was Princeton all the way.

66 Yards—Twice. What kind of day was it for the Tornadoes? On the first play from scrimmage at the start of the second half, fullback John Madden started from his own 34, was trapped, started over again and raced all the way into the end zone. The play must have covered some 80 yards but it was nullified by a referee's clip for removed from the action. On the very next play, Houston Webber covered the same 66 yards in one gulp for his third touchdown of the morning.

In the final two seconds, on the last play, Nick Arearo, declined to let the starting tailback for the Blue and White next year—his play linebacker this season—show he was a good form by rifling a pass to receiver end Bill Mendez, a 4-11 senior. It covered 38 yards and it gave Mendez, who is a three-year man but who has little playing time, something to remember.

They couldn't cover a couple of pass patterns we heard," commented Wood. "They couldn't cover them all the very end."

Webber Scores Three Times. Trenton was unable to cope with Webber who increased his scoring output to 12 points. He scored on a 15-yard run for the game's first points, later gathered in a pass from Thom Yoder for a 24-yard, payoff play and then added that 66-yard gallop. End Jay Springer scored twice once on a 14-yard pass from Bill Waldad and again on an aerial from Yoder on a pass-run play covering 37 yards.

Co captain Tom Yoder scored just before the half on a four-yard sweep around end, and Ryan added two when he pulled down a Trenton ball carrier with one hand in the end zone for a safety. Chris Gartner was five for five in point conversions, while John Pease was one for two.

Co captain Tom Butterfass sat out his second game with a leg infection. He is not expected to be active again. Colonia, either. His tackle slot was filled by Harry Russo on offense and Gary Estro on defense. Starting quarterback Dave Drake was also sidelined for the Trenton encounter with a slight head injury. Fred Fox filled in, equally for Drake who is expected to be ready for Colonia.

Under grey skies and before less than 100 Trenton onlookers, the scene was a tale of decline of Trenton's football for times. Trenton, missing its plays, lost, with the threat of the game from PMS in the first quarter. It drove to the PMS 29 only to be stopped by a fumble that Webber recovered. Then with Webber doing most of the hugging, PMS put as far as the Trenton three but on fourth down, ended by a five-yard off-side penalty. Trenton. In turn, the Little Tiger defense stiffened and Trenton was forced to punt.

Ryan Blocks Point. Ryan partially blocked the kick, the ball coming to rest on the 15. Webber took it in with 3:51 to go in the half. On the return kickoff, the ball carrier fumbled and who else but Ryan recovered on the TMS 30. A Yoder pass to Webber in the picked off by Trenton. Two open was low. Then with the plays later, Roger Greer, the Trenton sideline yelling, TMS quarterback, with a tackler pulling on his leg, let fly pass. Yoder came back with and Taylor intercepted again, returning it to the TMS 16. Forty-seven seconds remained.

Then Taylor intercepted a Taylor ran around right end Trenton pass. On the next play, Waldad's pass was — Continued on Next Page

ONE PHS TD THAT WASN'T: Junior fullback John Madden is in the clear and headed for the goal line in Saturday's game with Trenton. then swept left end for the score. "Trenton attempted to stop our plays inside and off tackle," said Wood. "That left us the outside."

About Ryan, who started it all, one can't say enough. At one point in the game, one of the sideline coaches shouted, "You guys watch Ryan out here; he'll make 40 percent of all the tackles. Later he added, "He's a whole of a ball player. He does it all. He doesn't know the meaning of stop."

"You've got to give him credit," said Wood. "He's in the best shape on the team." Wood added that at the other defensive end, Ross Bayer was only a step or two behind Ryan. "He's coming along fine." "He's coming along fine," Wood also cited the kicking of Gartner who was kicking off for the first time. The soccer-style artist was booming his kickoffs way out there, considering his small size. Wood reported he will continue to have Gartner kick off.

With his victory over Trenton —PHS has now outscored its once arch rival, 110 to 7 in the past two years—the Little Tigers have virtually sewn up the championship of this section in the southern division of the Greater New Jersey Conference. The lone team standing in the way is Scitomet and the Spartans are only a shadow of last year's squad which won them all. The two other sectional teams which PHS has already upended are Hamilton and Ewing.

NASSAU CONOVER 2-0
In Midgut Football, in blanketing Matthews Construction, 28, 0, Sunday at the Princeton High School gridiron, Nassau Conover became the only undefeated entry in the four-team Princeton Midgut Football League. Some 300 fans watched as Princeton University Store defeated Princeton Fuel Oil for its first win in the second part of the day's double-header.

Kevin Tylus, who seems destined for bigger things when he enters high school, was the whole story for Nassau Conover. He scored two of his team's four TD's and passed to Tony Bailey for a third. Tylus's scoring runs were 40 and 10 yards. The latter came in the fourth period after Tylus had returned a Fuel Oil punt to the 10.

Jamie Petrone got Conover on the scoreboard first in the opening period by going up the middle from 13 yards out. Defensive stars for the victors were Dave Donahue, Joe Zawadzky, Mark Van Hoesen, Scott Marsh and Bailey. Steve Perone, Ken Rickett, Kim Streeter, Mitch Schock, John Petrone, Jerry Fiamella and Breecy Bocofovo did their best to contain Nassau Conover. The losers did not have a single penalty called against them.

Blum Gets Safety. All the scoring in the second game came in the first quarter. On the third play from scrimmage, Dan Blum caught the ball carrier behind the goal line to give University Store a 2-0 margin.

Midway in the period, Joe McGuinn circled over for 15 yards and the game's only TD. McGuinn emerged as the game's standout, rushing for 130 yards, coming to 17 gained by the entire Fuel Oil eleven.

Thereafter, McGuinn's passing was a constant threat. He completed eight of 16, four to Lew Lewis for 57 yards. Outstanding on defense for the U-Store were Mike O'Donnell, Tom Rayner, Bobby King and Pete Polinsky.

Brad Elmblad and Greg Kline led the Fuel Oil attack, which was hamstrung when Ray Richards and Joe Gallo were outscored to play in the second half. Defensively, Frank O'Shaghnessy, Dave Black, John Mooney, Glen Goetzels and Peter Field excelled for the losers.

HUN AT SOLEBURY
Peters Stars Against Quakers. The only thing Hun School has to worry about in its upcoming Princeton-Jersey tilt with Solebury Saturday is uneven fidence. Solebury has lost all four of its games this fall, one a 12-6 decision to Germantown Friends, the same outfit Hun rolled over Saturday, 26-0. —Continued on Next Page

"What! More taxes... to pay strikers?"

That's right. There's a new state law raising your unemployment taxes 20 per cent starting January 1. And the law says taxes of all workers (union and non-union) can be used to pay unemployment benefits to strikers. We're not kidding.

Why should you pay more taxes to support somebody else's strike? We don't know. Ask your candidates for the State Senate and Assembly. Every seat in Trenton is up for election this year and repeal of this law ($-400) is the biggest issue.

A recent poll shows a clear majority of people against the law. Tell your candidates how you feel by writing them immediately. Their names and addresses are listed below. Then join our 20,000 members who are fighting to repeal the strikers benefits law:

Sports In Princeton

We're after the championship and if we beat Southbury we'll be runners-up in the first half, said Hun coach Hawley Waterman. "The main thing is to make sure nobody complacent."

When defending champion Perkiomen got knocked off last week, that left only George School and Friends Central undefeated in league competition. Hun, presently one win and one tie in league play, will face Friends Central the following week at home.

Peters Fram 45 Yards Out Hun scored on its first play from scrimmage when Steve Peters booted 45 yards. Hun added three more tallies before the half was over and then let the reserves contain the punchless Quakers throughout the second half.

Peters scored three of Hun's four TDs on a pair of 45-yard bootlegs and one of 45-yard punts. "I was a little bit off in my question, because this was the first varsity game of the night. Until Saturday, the eighth, 142-pound junior had lived up to the shadow of his captain, Mike Short, durable line halfback.

Last week, Short was sick and although he started as a backup, he had to pull him out soon after the kickoff. Hun won a 142-pounder go through the middle.

"He hits hard for a little guy," said Waterman. "He's a lot of guts." Waterman added that Peters made nice cutbacks and his runs. "On those long runs of his, each line a couple of deep backs had shots at him but they couldn't hold him. He twists turns and darts so that you can't get a good shot at him."

Slippery and Squirmy. "He's fast and half something else," 11 guess you'd call him slippery and squirmy. He reminds me of a cotton tail bounding up and down with a dog after him. That's Peters.

Hun's fourth tally came through the air — its first since the start of the season. Quarterback Ken Kelly hit Don Silverstein on an 18-yarder. But in the main, Hun stayed in the ground where it out-rushed the Quakers, 25 yards to 62. Peters alone had 134 yards in seven carries for a 19-yard average. Not bad for a beginning.

Defensively, although they played only a part of the game, Waterman singled out middle guard Bob McPherson who made five tackles. Practice Greenway who knocked down two passes and Pete Mangione and Jim Koplin who came in with pass interceptions.

Stanley Donald pointed well again for Hun — that's stood out for him — but Waterman reported he also ran well. He had the fullback position in place of starter Dick Chieft. Tommy Howell, another reserve back, earned 40 yards in eight carries.

This Saturday a healthy Hun is ready to go again, and from all appearances it looks as if Hun will be able to make a good run for the championship.

"I said from the beginning if we could get by the first two, we would be a contender," said Waterman. So far, Hun has done just that.

REEDER WINS SAILING

In Light Carmegie Boats, Boated by a kind of wind, the SAILING HOME. Members of the Carnegie Sailing Club sailed the dock on a becalmed Lake Carmegie after the completion of Sunday's races. John Reeder took first place in the 18-foot division and Walter Gibson finished second in the 18-foot division. Gibson scored 210-210-176 — Sunday with John Reeder capturing the Penguin division and Albion winning in the 18-foot.

Scoring 10 points, Reeder won the first race outright and was awarded the second when Roger Brooker's first was disallowed because of a foul. Tom Lawson placed second with 12 points. In the 18-foot, Gibson scored 13.4 points, followed by Tom Winton with 10.6; Fred Weigub, 9.2; Nancy Lawson and Tom Trull, each 5; and Ed Greiff, 3.

BOWLING NOTES

Wood Bowler of the week, Tom Wood, who graduated last June from Princeton High School and is now in football, basketball and track, is just as effective on the bowling lanes.

Last week at the Princeton Recreation Lanes on Nassau Street, Tom rolled a 236-217-243 — 696. That total 343 earned him the TOWN TOPICS Bowler of the Week Award for the high single game. Among the distaff bowlers there was a tie for the TOWN TOPICS award. Both Charlotte Rossi and Leah Antzari rolled 188s to win, as former winners Vicki DeCello and Diane Fowler were not eligible. Leah's 188 was 6 pins more than her average.

Rolling in the Nassau League, Wood was well above everyone else. Fred Goetzke's 226 was his best, followed by Val Ranaile's 221 and Jim Shee's 220. Ed Hughes had 200-202. Bunched between 200 and 211 were Flavio Buono, Mike DiDonato, Sal DiNigro, Jim Wheeler, Bill Whitley, Rich Fincelli and Bill Whitney.

In the standings, R & D Atlantic still clings to first place by two points, 24-22. Tied for second are Flumbers and Beemintlers 13 and Italian American Sportsman's Club. Grover, tied for second last week, slipped to a four-way tie for third. It, Princeton Aviators, First Aid and Tiger Garage all have 20.

Princeton No. 1 grabbed first place in the Tri County Firemen's League with 10 points. It had been tied with Dutch Neck dropped in to a second-place deadlock with Lawrenceville and Kingston. All have eight points. Princeton Junction and K.F.D.

Collectively, the firemen were only timid in their performance. The 11 were. Walt Co missed a 600 by one pin, rolling 211-205-143-599. Dick High single game was Gil Ireland's 218. Others above 200: Perry Lee Lack, 215; Wally Brown, 210; Jack Maple, 202; and Paul Torrey, 201.

In the A League, Bob Cifelli leveled the most pins, 824 on games of 179-225-219, while Bill Dumble had 202-228. High single efforts were fashioned by Dick Fowler, 233; Alvin Ward, 231; Don Snyder, 223; Fred Proscamp, 209; Wilton Tama, 214; Al Hibbard, 212; Bill Penell, 211, and Tony Tamasi, 207-210. Wes Cawley and Bill Kiefer rolled 216s and Bill Bethie had a pair, 213-202.

Others above 200 were Mike Piccini, Nick Scuderi, Les Gibbs, Jerry Tomarcho, Vince Tufano, Joe Baldino, Hal Frazer and Nick Rossi. Inv. Inn advanced to gain a tie for first place with Anders. Both have 26 points. Nassau Del, Nini Lesning, and Stef. Rossi's have 22, 22, and 21 respectively.
